BRING ORDER TO THE CHAOS OF STORY DEVELOPMENT

Flix brings order to the chaos of story development, so Creatives can focus on great storytelling, and Production can be confident projects run like clockwork.

Flix makes life easier for both Creative and Production teams. Which one are you?

Why Flix.

Free yourself of administrative tasks

• Focus on being creative whilst Flix takes care of naming, version, storing, and organizing your files.

• Flix handles all files, generates assets, and keeps previous revisions for easy access.

• Be liberated from mundane admin tasks and keep everything organized for seamless collaboration.

An intuitive workflow to iterate freely

• Easily revisit previous ideas, repurpose sequences, and explore new possibilities.

• Use intuitive tools so production can focus on anything that can't be automated.

• Bridge the gap between story and editorial, and bring order to the chaos of storyboarding.

Collaborate efficiently

• Work across teams and departments globally, so they can develop the best stories possible.

• Everyone on the team has access to the latest versions whether it is short or long-form content.

• Leave comments, notes, and feedback on individual boards for an efficient review process across teams.

Keep using the tools you love

• Automatically connect with your favorite sketching and editorial applications.

• Work in the way you're used to. From Layer comps to Timeline Frames, Flix will manage all your software files.

• Hold everything in Flix's library, filter boards by sequence, artist, or date, and find everything you need easily.

CREATIVE

Focus on great storytelling. Let Flix handle the admin.

Designed to promote fast-paced creativity, Flix removes technical barriers, meaning artists spend less time on laborious manual processes, and more time coming up with awesome ideas.

How does it make your life easier?

Flix takes care of naming, versioning, storing, and organizing your flies, so you are liberated from mundane shores while developing stories.

Can I keep my preferred way of working?

Yes! We even try to make it better. No matter how you like to bring ideas to life, Flix automatically connect with your favorite stretching and editorial applications, so you can create in the way that suits you best.

What if I want to work remotely?

With Flix, working remotely feels as if you were right there at the studio. With direct access to the latest storyboards and notes, Production can access remote talent like never before, safe in the knowledge Flix is taking care of everything.

What's the learning curve like after adopting Flix?

With Flix, you can hit the ground running. A modern UI and intuitive workflows make it incredibly easy to learn, even if you've never encountered the software before.

More time to be creative

Focus on the creative. Flix takes care of naming, versioning, storing and organizing the hundreds or thousands of files you create, liberating you from mundane chores while developing stories.

Easily connect your favorite apps

Whatever your preferred way to bring your ideas to life, Flix will automatically connect with your favorite sketching and editorial applications, preserving the authenticity of your idea, without taking you away from the workflows you're comfortable with.

Seamless feedback loop

With Flix, tracking revisions and changes is part and parcel of the package, letting you clearly see which areas need attention so you can be confident you're always working on the right thing.

PRODUCTION

Flix simplifies the process so projects run like clockwork.

Flix brings order to the chaos of story development, so Production can be confident projects run like clockwork. Project admin is taken care of, notes are tracked and revisions are seamless.

What's Flix ROI?

If time is money (and it is), Flix could prove to be your studio's most valuable investment. With Flix automating and streamlining time-consuming admin tasks, both Production and Creative teams are freed up to do the jobs they were hired to do.

How does it make teams more efficient?

Flix takes care of project organization so you can be confident all notes, feedback and revisions are being tracked. With complete visibility on what's going on, every team member is singing from the same hymn sheet.

How easy is it to get set up?

With Flix, you can hit the ground running. A powerful API and out-of-the-box hooks allow you to customize it to your production needs, so you can automate and extend your workflows even further.

Save time and maximise efficiency across departments

All project administration is taken care of, leaving production safe in the knowledge projects are organised, freeing up their time to work on the tasks that can't be automated.

Access, monitor and review projects

All notes, feedback and revisions are tracked in Flix, from every team member whether remote or local, so production can always be sure they're on top of the project.

The perfect fit for any workflow

While every production works in unique ways, Flix slots right in and gets to work immediately, with its powerful API, and out-of-the-box hooks allowing you to automate and extend it to smooth out your workflows even further.